Designed to sit comfortably within your conference environment, The Bigger Picture provides an excellent teamwork and communication forum for your entire group.

Drawing on delegates' conceptual and spatial talents, this high quality, fun exercise requires individuals to complete their own mini challenge for the good of the group.

Collectively, each element will work together to recreate a work of art - or bespoke design to your specification - from limited available information. Each guest is given a miniaturised piece of artwork from which they will produce their contribution to the finished project. Each separate piece comes together to reproduce a complete masterpiece.

At the conclusion of the event, the group gathers together in an attempt to assemble the individual pieces correctly within a framework and the picture is completed – quite often with hilarious results.

This event emphasises the need for clear and accurate communication, encouraging people to work together knowing their individual task played an important part in creating 'The Bigger Picture'.
